

Sax Player Andrew Neu touring during Christmas time

December 12, 2007 - Sax player Andrew Neu is an active part of the Philadelphia music scene. He has recorded and toured with local bands and famous artists such as Sister Sledge, The Four Tops, Manhattan Transfer, Randy Brecker and many others. He is not only playing with his own band of 7 musicians, but he is also the featured tenor sax player soloist of trombonist Brian Pastor's Big Band. Neu is surfing on the wave of success, as his smash hit "Come To Me" (drawn from his latest CD "In Clear View") has moved up to third position on Music Choice's Top 10 this week. If you want to listen to his fresh sound blending contemporary jazz, soul and South American music, Andrew will be performing live with the Brian Pastor Big Band in Philadelphia on December 18th and in the famous musician and singer Bobby Caldwell Show in Minneapolis on December 31th.
